

Flying Solo Travel Club
February 2023

I hope you are enjoying your day!!

Well.

Another trip around the sun, and as of last Thursday, February 9th,

I am officially 44.

So what, do you ask, did I fill my day of celebration with?

Truth be told, I had a nap.

My mom took me for coffee, my husband seared me some lovely scallops for lunch (before the kids got home to avoid sharing) and at 1:30, I laid down my head for 40 minutes of blissful shuteye.

It was lovely.

I will leave all the wild adventures for the road.

It has been a busy couple weeks with a few more trips booked for solos to a number of destinations...Egypt... Jordan... the Baltics... Greece...and as always, a few more in discussions from the last 2 meetups.

Oddly enough for those of you who have attended any of them, you may have noticed they tend to be...ahem...estrogen strong. The Langley meet up at the Cactus Club graced us with 5 gentlemen in one sitting! Definitely one for the books, and it was great to hear what people would like to get out of this club.

For one local fella in particular, he is looking at something to do with golf.

Local...not so local...open to anything really.

So if you are a golfer, I feel with the weather getting nicer soon, perhaps a local tee time for some of you would be a nice way to break the ice.

I would be happy to arrange a local round of golf and a lunch and see where the conversation goes, so if you are interested, please email me directly and I will include you in those arrangements.

Lets take a look at a few things, shall we?.....

There are still some spaces left for the next meetups.....

As for the April 11th meetup, it will now be a supplier event!

April 11- Wild Fig Lounge

GLOBUS.

A reminder for those of you new to the meetups, it is not a sales night!
It is a wonderful opportunity to learn about a few trips to consider for the group, have some great discussions and meet some great people
If you have any questions, don't hesitate to give me a call!

Below are a few of the trips that I have booked for solos in the last couple weeks and as always, the more the merrier.

Currently, there are spaces available but that can change quickly. The links will take you to the supplier site, and if you are interested in finding out more, just drop a line

The Balkans have become a very popular destination, particularly with a few of you! There is another solo getting ready to take advantage of some sales right now with

Trafalgars Baltic Adventure Tour

Best of Switzerland
with Trafalgar
July 29th-August 6th, 2023

$4150 for twin share but you can get your own accomodation with a supplement of only $580! Switzerland is one of the most expensive countries in Europe so that is a pretty good price. I would also propose the same trip for Spring 2024

Exodus is a tour operator that you may be familiar with as I have mentioned them many times. They have amazing small group tours suitable for any activity level, very reasonable solo supplements, and 10% off some last minute trips for Spring.

Walking, hiking, in the desert or in the snow, if you are looking for a bit of movement, you may want to check out their options in addition to this unique experience below.

Chianti Walking and Wine

April 15th- April 22nd, 2023

3 spaces left

solo rate only $2930

For a number of reasons, travelling internationally, or outside of North America rather, is not of interest to many of you. The airline schedule changes, delays, and long flights are not appealing, and I fully understand that. This could be a very great time to explore "local"....

On April 11th, we will be discussing the following with Peter:

August 19th- August 31st- Maritime Explorer

This trip is roundtrip from Boston, with a lovely itinerary and a small group discovery, so maximum of 24 people. Alternative dates until September 10th are available, and pricing begins at $5686 dbl occ. Many have mentioned the Maritimes in the past, so I am happy to find you a new friend for this Eastern Adventure!

Majestic Rockies

August 20th departure

This begins in Vancouver, meeting your group in the evening, and also a trip into Victoria! Then take your way through some of the best scenery in Canada before finishing in Calgary and a nice domestic flight home!

For those who have the south on your radar...this Southern Charms tour starts and ends in Atlanta with plenty of peaches, sweet tea and history in between. A small group tour starting on September 29th, there is a maximum of 24 guests and already guaranteed!

So, as always, a few things to think about.

You know how to reach me if I can help with anything else!

Until we meet again~
