

FLYING SOLO TRAVEL CLUB

JUNE 2022 NEWSLETTER

And just like that, we have made it through!

ok...well, maybe not "just like that"...

Through 2 years of chaos, mayhem, madness to the "other" side where I finally feel it is safe to dream with the likelihood of it becoming a reality!

Travel is finally, truly, picking up, and so much so that many expect the industry may bounce back by 2023... a full year earlier than predicted.

Even with the current situation in the Ukraine, 7 of the top 10 travel destinations are in Europe.

This is going to be a full newsletter to say the least, as I am including the adventures I have booked solos into (who are open to others joining of course) and a few more amazing opportunities for 2023 that I feel will get you very excited...it doesn't really take much after all this though does it?

Time flies as we continue to age gracefully, but still provide me plenty of opportunity to do with I love and do best... introduce you to people interested in the same journey!

When restrictions lifted, I jumped to throw a few meet ups together and was so pleased with how many took time out of their schedules to meet with complete strangers.

Is it a Canadian thing?

Or simply the characteristic of travelers to be open to new situations and new people?

Either way, it is wonderful to witness connections, hear the laughter, and learn from the stories that so many of you share in person, in email and over the phone.

I love what I do and am so excited with the possibilities!

I look forward to hearing from you~

Janita

Flying Solos....where are they going?

The list of trips below currently have Solo Travel Club Members booked onto them. I do however have the permission to spread the word in the event there are others who would like to tag along. They have secured their own space, and would prefer to keep it that way, but I can say from my own relationship with them...they are all lovely and would be a extremely friendly folks to share a morning coffee or stories at the end of the day over dinner! Currently these trips have space remaining, but that it cannot be guaranteed until a deposit is placed down.
